

No License message with Floating License

If the server started without an error, client is connected to network, network connection is fine with the specified port open, and you get the following error message as displayed then you are most likely using an older version of lmgrd and awr daemon awrd.exe files. Always download the latest files from Here