

Running Load Pull

This video walks users through setting up a load pull simulation in the AWR Design Environment from generating the load pull template, setting up the load pull options, selecting the impedances, and simulating.

This video mentions a second video on Load Pull Measurements.

Your browser does not support HTML5 video.